MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 80

Converted

This mark scheme accompanies a converted question paper: Cambridge IGCSE First Language English 0500/12 October/November 2024, restructured to the 2027–2029 Paper 1 format. The reading texts in the insert are unchanged.

Where a question has been carried over, the indicative content is transferred unchanged, because the text has not changed and the creditable points have not changed. Questions marked generated are new and their indicative content has been written for this conversion.

Level descriptor tables are reproduced unchanged from the official 2027 specimen mark scheme (0500/01/SP/27). Conversion decisions are recorded in the note on page 4.

Generic Marking Principles

All examiners must apply these general marking principles when marking candidate responses. Examiners must apply them alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptions for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme must also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptions for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptions for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptions.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however, the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptions in mind.

English & Media-Specific Marking Principles

(To be read in conjunction with the Generic Marking Principles (and requiring further guidance on how to place marks within levels))

Components using level descriptions:

- We use level descriptions as a guide to broad understanding of the qualities normally expected of, or typical of, work in a level.
- Level descriptions are a means of general guidance, and should not be interpreted as hurdle statements.
- Where indicative content notes are supplied for a question, these are not a prescription of required content, and must not be treated as such. Alternative correct points and unexpected answers in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the knowledge and skills demonstrated.
- While we may have legitimate expectations as to the ground most answers may occupy, we must at all times be prepared to meet candidates on their chosen ground, provided it is relevant ground (e.g. clearly related to and derived from a relevant passage/text and meeting the mark scheme requirements for the question).

Components using point-based marking:

Point marking is often used to reward knowledge, understanding and application of skills. We give credit where the candidate's answer shows relevant knowledge, understanding and application of skills in answering the question. We do not give credit where the answer shows confusion.

From this it follows that we:

a DO credit answers which are worded differently from the mark scheme if they clearly convey the same meaning (unless the mark scheme requires a specific term).

b DO credit alternative answers/examples which are not written in the mark scheme if they are correct.

c DO credit answers where candidates give more than one correct answer in one prompt/numbered/scaffolded space where extended writing is required rather than list-type answers. For example, questions that require n reasons (e.g. State two reasons …).

d DO NOT credit answers simply for using a 'key term' unless that is all that is required. (Check for evidence it is understood and not used incorrectly.)

e DO NOT credit answers which are obviously self-contradicting or trying to cover all possibilities.

f DO NOT give further credit for what is effectively repetition of a correct point already credited unless the language itself is being tested. This applies equally to 'mirror statements' (i.e. polluted/not polluted).

g DO NOT require spellings to be correct, unless this is part of the test. However spellings of syllabus terms must allow for clear and unambiguous separation from other syllabus terms with which they may be confused (e.g. Corrasion/Corrosion).

Notes on this converted mark scheme

Question 1 order. Sub-parts run in the order of their anchors in Text A. Generated items were interleaved by anchor, not appended, and both sit inside old 1(d), whose lead ('Re-read paragraphs 4 and 5') already covers their paragraphs. The R3 item on 'as genetically distinct as lions and tigers' (¶4, line 12) follows old 1(d)(i) (methods, ¶4) as 1(d)(ii), so old 1(d)(ii) (physical features, ¶5) becomes 1(d)(iii). The R4 item on 'melt quietly into the rainforest' (¶5, line 15) follows it as 1(d)(iv). Letters (a)–(e) are unchanged from the 2024 paper. Neither generated item is on paragraph 6, which old 1(e) already covers.

Question 3 mark split. This paper follows the specimen allocation exactly: 3(a) 2 × 1, 3(b) 3 × 1, 3(c) 5, 3(d) 10, totalling 20.

The source 2(a) carried four one-mark identification items and the 2027 3(a) has room for two. Kept 2(a)(i) 'sprawled' (R2) and 2(a)(ii) 'torrential' (R1), so the pair spans explicit and implicit retrieval. The items not carried forward are:

- 2(a)(iii) moving quickly and with heavy footsteps → '(off went the elephants,) pounding (northwards)' (line 28), R1
- 2(a)(iv) pulled → 'yanked (him)' (line 42), R1

Question 3(d). The 2027 language task prints a single extract and names a specific focus, where the source 2(d) referenced two paragraphs. Kept: paragraph 1, 'Whenever Celia, the lead elephant, …' (Celia and her herd visiting the narrator's home), printed in full; 10 indicative entries carried. Dropped: paragraph 2, 'Celia has a soft spot …' (Celia's attitude to Lawrence) and its 9 indicative entries and overview.

- 2(a) and 4 use the specimen mark line ('Up to 10 marks are available for reading and up to N marks for writing') in place of the 2024 wording, matching the specimen and the existing converted papers.
- 3(c) stem adapted to the specimen shape ('explain how the writer uses language to suggest …'); the 2024 stem read 'explain how the writer suggests Lawrence's feelings …'. The focus is unchanged. 3(c) was 3 marks with point-banded guidance; it is now 5 marks on specimen Table D. Its old 3/2/1 award rules no longer apply; indicative content is unchanged.
- 3(a)/3(b): underlining converted to bold; 'words underlined' becomes 'words in bold'.
- 4: word count 250–350 → 250–300; marks 15 reading + 10 writing → 10 + 10. The interview form is on the 2027 list.

Table substitutions. Tables A, B, C, D, E, F and G below are taken unchanged from the official 2027 specimen mark scheme 0500/01/SP/27. No table has been reworded or rescaled.

Generated questions. 1(d(ii)), 1(d(iv)), 2(b) are new to this conversion. Each was tested for answerability against the insert alone before its indicative content was written. 2(b) targets the writer's attitude, so it cannot be answered from content already creditable in the 2(a) summary.

Insert. Insert passed through unchanged. Its 'Read Text X, and then answer Question …' cue lines still carry the 2024 question numbers (1(a)–(e), 1(f), 2(a)–(d) and 3); the conversion prompt forbids editing the insert, so candidates should be told the cue lines are superseded by the question paper.

Source discrepancies.

- The ellipsis in the 2024 1(c), 1(d) and 1(e) leads (e.g. 'In March 2021 … their preservation.') does not extract from the question paper or mark scheme PDFs; it is restored as '...' in the converted paper.
- The 2024 2(a) summary indicative content is grouped under two headings (A1 Human volunteers, A2 Elephants); the grouping is kept as printed.

Note: All examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated. Nonetheless, the content must be clearly related to and derived from the texts.

Question 1

This question tests reading assessment objectives R1, R2, R3, R4 and R5 (20 marks):

R1 demonstrate understanding of explicit meanings

R2 demonstrate understanding of implicit meanings and attitudes

R3 analyse, evaluate and develop facts, ideas and opinions, using appropriate support from the text

R4 demonstrate understanding of how writers achieve effects and influence readers

R5 select and use information for specific purposes.

Question	Answer	Marks
1(a)	Which type of African elephant can many children identify just from a picture, according to the text? Award 1 mark for: • savannah (elephant)	1
1(b)(i)	Using your own words, explain what the text means by: 'Very little' (line 4) Award 2 marks for full explanation (both strands). Award 1 mark for partial explanation. Credit alternatives explaining the whole phrase. For example: almost nothing / next to nothing / just a small amount / practically nothing / hardly anything / not much / negligible / not a lot / lack of (knowledge) • significant(ly) / extreme(ly) / incredibly / much • small(er) amount(s) / limited amount(s) / less	2
1(b)(ii)	Using your own words, explain what the text means by: 'highly elusive' (lines 4 and 5). Award 2 marks for full explanation (both strands). Award 1 mark for partial explanation. Credit alternatives explaining the whole phrase. • very / extremely / hugely / exceptionally / really / significantly / importantly • difficult to find / secretive / avoids detection / evasive / mysterious / hard to spot / not seen often / likes to hide / rarely reveals itself	2
1(c)	Re-read paragraph 3 ('In March 2021 ... their preservation.'). Give two possible reasons why the IUCN updated the forest elephant's status to 'critically endangered'. Award 1 mark for each idea, up to a maximum of 2. • sudden decline in numbers / (population suddenly) declined by 86% / huge drop in numbers / might go (on the way to going) extinct • publicity / to draw attention to their plight / needed to raise public awareness / most people had not heard of them • nothing had been done to aid their conservation / so steps would be taken to aid their conservation	2
1(d)(i)	Re-read paragraphs 4 and 5 ('Genetic analysis ... curved tusks.'). Identify two methods by which scientists could tell that the savannah elephant and the forest elephant were different types. Award 1 mark for each idea, up to a maximum of 2. • genetic analysis / (established they are) genetically distinct • noted physical features of each / compared physical features / (compared) different physical features • observed them / (observed that they) live separate existences	2

© Cambridge University Press & Assessment 2024

Question	Answer	Marks
1(d)(ii)	Re-read paragraphs 4 and 5 ('Genetic analysis ... curved tusks.'). Using your own words, explain why the writer says that the two elephant types are 'as genetically distinct as lions and tigers' (line 12). Award 1 mark for each idea, predominantly in own words, up to a maximum of 3. Answers which are entirely in the words of the text should not be credited. Do not credit 'genetic analysis' on its own; that is the answer to 1(d)(i). Credit it only where it is used to explain the comparison. • to show how great the genetic difference is – the two elephants are as different from each other as two separate species of big cat • lions and tigers are familiar to most readers, who accept them as different animals – the comparison makes a scientific finding easy to grasp • to correct the common belief that there is only one kind of African elephant ('most people are unaware that there are two different kinds') • to reinforce that the two types separated long ago and live apart ('diverged from their common ancestor around 5.5 million years ago'; 'live separate existences') – so they should not be thought of as the same animal • implies that the forest elephant deserves recognition and protection in its own right, rather than being overlooked beside its better-known relative	3
1(d)(iii)	Re-read paragraphs 4 and 5 ('Genetic analysis ... curved tusks.'). Explain how the physical features of forest and savannah elephants are different. Award 1 mark for each idea, up to a maximum of 3. • different sizes / the forest elephant is smaller / forest one is more compact / savannah elephant is larger • different in colour / forest elephant is darker / savannah elephant is lighter • different ears / forest elephant has smaller ears / forest one has rounder ears • different tusks / savannah elephant has thicker tusks / savannah type has more curved tusks	3
1(d)(iv)	Re-read paragraphs 4 and 5 ('Genetic analysis ... curved tusks.'). Explain the effect of the phrase 'melt quietly into the rainforest' (line 15). Award 1 mark for each idea, up to a maximum of 2. A response that only restates the literal meaning (the elephant hides in the forest) should be awarded a maximum of 1 mark. • the elephant seems to dissolve / vanish into its surroundings – it blends in so completely that it becomes part of the forest (camouflage) • 'melt' suggests something gradual, smooth and effortless – surprising for such a huge animal • 'quietly' adds silence / stealth – it moves without drawing attention to itself • reinforces why it is so hard to find and so little studied ('highly elusive') – adds to its mystery • contrasts with the savannah elephant, which lives in 'more open spaces' and is easy to see	2
1(e)	Re-read paragraph 6 ('If we care about ... many other animals.'). Using your own words, explain how the rainforest may be affected if the forest elephant ceases to exist. Award 1 mark for each idea, predominantly in own words, up to a maximum of 3. Answers which are entirely in the words of the text should not be credited. • less variety in fruit trees / fewer fruit trees / no-one to spread fruit seeds around • fewer small trees culled / more small trees (in rainforest) / less space for big trees / rainforest (will become) less effective in combating carbon emissions • the existence of primates / other animals in the rainforest may be jeopardised / reduction in (some) animals' habitats	3

Question 2(a) tests the following reading assessment objectives (10 marks):

R1 demonstrate understanding of explicit meanings

R2 demonstrate understanding of implicit meanings and attitudes

R5 select and use information for specific purposes.

This question also tests the following writing assessment objectives (5 marks):

W1 articulate experience and express what is thought, felt and imagined

W2 organise and structure facts, ideas and opinions for effect

W3 use a range of vocabulary and sentence structures appropriate to context.

Question 2(b) tests the following reading assessment objectives (5 marks):

R2 demonstrate understanding of implicit meanings and attitudes

R3 analyse, evaluate and develop facts, ideas and opinions, using appropriate support from the text.

Marking criteria for Question 2(a)

Table A, Reading

Use the following table to give a mark out of 10 for Reading. This question tests assessment objectives R1, R2 and R5.

Level	Marks	Description
5	9–10	• An effective response that demonstrates understanding of a wide range of relevant ideas and is consistently well-focused on the text and task. • Relevant ideas are skilfully selected to demonstrate an overview.
4	7–8	• A mostly effective response that demonstrates a competent understanding of a good range of relevant ideas and is consistently well-focused on the text and task. • Relevant ideas are carefully selected and there is some evidence of an overview.
3	5–6	• A partially effective response that demonstrates understanding of a range of relevant ideas with occasional loss of focus on text or task. • Some evidence of selection of relevant ideas but may include excess material.
2	3–4	• A basic response that demonstrates general understanding of relevant ideas and is sometimes focused on text and task. • Some indiscriminate selection of ideas.
1	1–2	• A response that demonstrates limited understanding of relevant ideas and shows limited focus on text and task. • Little evidence of selection of ideas.
0	0	No creditable content.

Table B, Writing

Use the following table to give a mark out of 5 for Writing. This question tests assessment objectives W1, W2 and W3.

Level	Marks	Description
3	4–5	• Expression is clear and fluent. • Organisation is effective. • Concise use of a range of appropriate vocabulary.
2	2–3	• Expression is generally clear. • Organisation is sometimes effective. • Areas of concision but some reliance on the words of the text.
1	1	• Expression lacks clarity. • Organisation is limited. • Includes lifted sections.
0	0	No creditable content.

Question	Answer	Marks
2(b)	Assess the writer's attitude towards volunteering with elephants. Use three details from Text B to support your answer. Use the Marking Criteria for Question 2(b) (Table C, Reading). Credit is for identifying the writer's attitude and supporting it from the text, not for retrieving the benefits already creditable in 2(a). Credit any other attitude that is valid and supported. Responses might use the following: • wryly self-critical about their earlier naivety; now pragmatic and realistic about captivity (paragraph 2): 'I naively believed'; 'That's a sweet sentiment, but it's just not that simple.' • disapproving / scornful of profit-driven projects that exploit elephants (paragraph 3): 'unethical and frankly damaging'; 'lucrative tourism rather than actual conservation'; 'such blatant exploitation'; 'I had no intention of supporting' • critical of short programmes and admiring of the experienced long-stay volunteer (paragraph 4): 'not particularly useful'; 'we newcomers stood round unsure' contrasted with 'confidently examined' • enthusiastic and affectionately amused by the elephants' personalities (paragraph 5): 'exhilarating'; 'cheekily expected the brave member of the herd' • proud of what they achieved and good-humoured even about unglamorous tasks (paragraph 6): 'my self-confidence soared'; 'picked up elephant dung for research (seriously!)'	5

Table C, Reading

Use the following table to give a mark out of 5 for Reading. This question tests assessment objectives R2 and R3.

Level	Marks	Description
3	4–5	Clear understanding of the writer's attitude with relevant support from the text.
2	2–3	Some understanding of the writer's attitude with some supporting detail.
1	1	Limited understanding of the writer's attitude.
0	0	No creditable content.

Question 3

This question tests reading assessment objectives R1, R2 and R4 (20 marks):

R1 demonstrate understanding of explicit meanings

R2 demonstrate understanding of implicit meanings and attitudes

R4 demonstrate understanding of how writers achieve effects and influence readers.

Question	Answer	Marks
3(a)(i)	Identify a word or phrase from the text which suggests the same idea as the words in bold: Different terrains and landscapes were spread far and wide over River Game Reserve. Accept cloze responses that repeat all / some of the question stem with the correct answer. • sprawled (over rolling hills) (line 14)	1
3(a)(ii)	The rain on the night that the elephants arrived was extremely heavy. Accept cloze responses that repeat all / some of the question stem with the correct answer. • torrential (rain) (line 20)	1
3(b)(i)	Using your own words, explain what the writer means by each of the words in bold: Just as the trucks pulled into the game reserve, a tyre exploded, and the vehicle tilted dangerously in the mud. My heart froze at the elephants' terrified trumpeting and screeching. It wasn't until dawn that we managed to get them into the secure enclosure. exploded • exploded: burst, blew (apart), shattered into pieces, popped	1
3(b)(ii)	froze • froze: stood still, (felt like it) stopped (beating)	1
3(b)(iii)	screeching • screeching: (high pitched) screaming, howling, shrieking, wailing, shrill sound	1

Question	Answer	Marks
3(c)	Use one example from the text below to explain how the writer uses language to suggest Lawrence's feelings about the situation with the elephants. Use your own words in your explanation. Night after night, Lawrence stayed as close to the secure enclosure as he dared, singing to those angry elephants, talking to them and telling them stories until he was hoarse. With tender determination and no shortage of foolhardiness, Lawrence breached Celia's terror of humans and gained her trust. Use the Marking Criteria for Question 3(c) (Table D, Reading). The explanation must be predominantly in the candidate's own words. Responses might use the following: • night after night: ongoing, every night; extreme pressure; huge commitment • stayed as close to the secure enclosure as he dared: very near to the elephants; potentially risking his personal safety; bravely; prepared to do whatever it takes • singing to those angry elephants, talking to them and telling them stories until he was hoarse: use of listing to build up idea of many different methods; trying his best to communicate to them in as many different ways as he can; as if they were children who need settling at bed time; wants them to trust him like a father; keeps going until he can barely speak anymore; physically draining / exhausting • with tender determination and no shortage of foolhardiness: oxymoron; a mixture of love/ compassion and sheer grit; was not going to fail; took extreme/ ridiculous personal risks; badly wanted to succeed	5

Table D, Reading

Use the following table to give a mark out of 5 for Reading. This question tests assessment objectives R1, R2 and R4.

Level	Marks	Description
3	4–5	Clear understanding of the writer's use of language.
2	2–3	Some understanding of the writer's use of language.
1	1	Limited understanding of the writer's use of language.
0	0	No creditable content.

© Cambridge University Press & Assessment 2024

Question	Answer	Marks
3(d)	Choose three powerful words or phrases from the extract below to analyse how the writer uses language to describe Celia and her herd visiting the narrator's home. Whenever Celia, the lead elephant, and her herd visit, their trunks immediately curl up like periscopes to scan our house. They start to wonder: 'Are they at home? Is that appetising whiff coming from their bountiful fruit trees? Would a daring fruit-raid be within the realms of possibility?' Our cat finds his blissful slumbers on the patio rudely disturbed, then the exuberant elephant babies gleefully charge after him along the length of the wire fence that borders our garden, their bodies a gangling bundle of floppy ears and tiny swinging trunks. Write about 200 to 250 words. Use the Marking Criteria for Question 3(d) (Table E, Reading). Notes on the task This question is marked for the ability to select powerful or unusual words and for an understanding of ways in which the language is effective. Expect responses to provide words / phrases that carry connotations additional to general meaning. Mark holistically for the overall quality of the response, not for the number of words chosen, bearing in mind that for the higher bands there should be a range of choices to demonstrate an understanding of how language works, and that this should include the ability to explain images. It is the quality of the analysis that attracts marks. Do not deduct marks for inaccurate statements; simply ignore them. The following notes are a guide to what good responses might say about the selections. Candidates can make any sensible comment, but only credit those that are relevant to the correct meanings of the words in the context and that have some validity. Alternative acceptable explanations should be credited. Credit comments on effects created by non-vocabulary choices such as grammar / syntax and punctuation devices. These must be additional to comments on vocabulary. Only credit comments on stylistic effect where these are explicitly linked to choices.	10

Question	Answer	Marks
3(d)	Responses might focus on words or phrases from the following: • immediately curl up like periscopes to scan our house: trunks are curved upwards, lifted as soon as they arrive to check out who is there; reminiscent of a military/naval operation; act in unison; on a mission • wonder: think through the possibilities; as if planned, always looking for an opportunity; strategising • appetising whiff: strong smell, something tasty; always hungry; irresistibly delicious, attracted • (their) bountiful fruit trees: generous, produce plenty of fruit; far more fruit than the humans could possibly need; hugely tempting • daring fruit raid: brave, intrepid, fearless, invasion, attack on / theft of (the fruit); illegal break-in and entry; mischievous; greedy; cheeky, not scared of humans; planned this all along • realms of possibility: something manageable; bounds of what could be done • blissful slumbers: peaceful sleep; pleasant dreams; completely unaware of elephants' presence • rudely disturbed: suddenly, roughly interrupted; completely unexpected; received a shock; supercilious attitude of sedentary cat to younger, bouncy animals • exuberant (elephant babies) gleefully charge: energetic, lively baby elephants happily race; high spirited; enjoy tormenting the cat; innocently playing; the cat is the enemy • (their bodies) a gangling bundle of floppy ears and tiny swinging trunks: collectively they look like one small body mainly made up of soft wobbly ears and very small swaying trunks; all act as one; teaming up on the cat; enjoying themselves; carefree, high-energy levels; clumsy, uncoordinated; cute

Marking Criteria for Question 3(d)

Table E, Reading: Analysing how writers achieve effects

Use the following table to give a mark out of 10 for Reading. This question tests assessment objectives R1, R2 and R4.

Level	Marks	Description
5	9–10	• Analysis adds meaning and associations to precisely selected words/phrases and demonstrates the writer's reasons for using them. • Explains images with some precision and imagination. • Clear understanding of the writer's use of language.
4	7–8	• Some analysis of carefully selected words and phrases offers secure explanations of meanings within the context of the text. • Begins to identify and explain images. • Some understanding of the writer's use of language.
3	5–6	• Chooses appropriate words and phrases. • Mostly explains meanings of words. • Attempts to suggest and explain effects are basic or general.
2	3–4	• Chooses words and phrases that communicate less effectively within the context of the text. • Explanations repeat the language of the original and/or are general, slight or only partially effective. • Correctly identifies linguistic devices.
1	1–2	• Choice of words is rarely relevant. • Comments offer limited evidence of understanding.
0	0	No creditable content.

Note: All examiners are instructed that alternative correct answers and unexpected approaches in candidates' scripts must be given marks that fairly reflect the relevant knowledge and skills demonstrated. Nonetheless, the content must be clearly related to and derived from the texts.

Question 4

This question tests reading assessment objectives R1, R2, R3 and R5 (10 marks):

R1 demonstrate understanding of explicit meanings

R2 demonstrate understanding of implicit meanings and attitudes

R3 analyse, evaluate and develop facts, ideas and opinions, using appropriate support from the text

R5 select and use information for specific purposes.

and writing assessment objectives W1, W2, W3 and W4 (10 marks):

W1 articulate experience and express what is thought, felt and imagined

W2 organise and structure facts, ideas and opinions for effect

W3 use a range of vocabulary and sentence structures appropriate to context

W4 use language appropriate to audience and purpose.

Question	Answer	Marks
4	You are Lawrence. You are interviewed about the elephants in River Game Reserve for a magazine article about animal conservation. The interviewer asks you the following three questions only. • How did you come to be responsible for the elephants and what were your concerns before they arrived? • What challenges did you face when the elephants came into your care and how did you deal with them? • How are the elephants settling now and what advice would you give other game reserve owners about elephants? Write the words of the interview. Base your interview on what you have read in Text C, but be careful to use your own words. Address each of the three bullets. Begin your interview with the first question. Write about 250 to 300 words. Up to 10 marks are available for reading and up to 10 marks for writing. Use the Marking Criteria for Question 4 (Table F, Reading and Table G, Writing). Notes on the task Candidates should select ideas from the text (see below) and develop them relevantly, supporting what they write with details from the text. Look for an appropriate register for the genre, and a clear and balanced response which covers the three areas of the question, is well sequenced, and is in the candidate's own words. Annotate A1 for references to how they first came to be responsible for the elephants and their concerns before they arrived. Annotate A2 for references to the challenges faced when the elephants first came into their care and how they dealt with them. Annotate A3 for references to how the elephants are settling in now and advice to other game reserve owners about elephants.	20

Question	Answer	Marks
4	A1: How did you come to be responsible for the elephants and what were your concerns before they arrived? • bought a game reserve (det. beautiful, savannah, forest, rolling hills) [dev. ideal habitat for different species] • asked to adopt (det. animal welfare representative) [dev. herd needed a safe home / herd was at risk / felt obliged to help] • lack of knowledge (det. only just taken over the reserve, only two weeks before their arrival) [dev. pressure of time to learn about elephants / huge responsibility] • lack of suitable accommodation / security (det. set up an enclosure, nowhere to keep them) [dev. needed protecting while they acclimatised / (insufficient funds to cover) worried about cost to build] • delivered to them (det. huge articulated trucks) [dev. hadn't known what to expect / horrified when realised how big the elephants must be / worried they had made a mistake by agreeing] A2: What challenges did you face when the elephants came into your care and how did you deal with them? • arrived in the middle of the night (det. torrential rain, took all night to get them in the enclosure) [dev. awful conditions / nightmarish] • elephants were traumatised (det. noise of exploding tyre, screeching of the mothers and their babies) [dev. potentially dangerous / instinctively protecting their young] • worked out how to escape their enclosure (det. bypassed electric fence using a tree) [dev. more temporary than intended / whole night's work wasted] • locating the elephants (det. took 10 days to find them) [dev. fear of what might happen to the elephants / fear for safety of local residents / exhausted physically and mentally] • local support (det. cars, helicopters and people on foot searched) [dev. community effort / all pulled together / relief when elephants found] A3: How are the elephants settling now and what advice would you give other game reserve owners about elephants? • herd moves freely round reserve (det. visit Lawrence and Frances' home) [dev. no longer scared of humans / feel(s) like they belong / even Frances is relaxed about them now] • Celia is now confident (det. leads the herd, greets him with delight, 'chats') [dev. fully rehabilitated / relief / jokes about relationship] • baby elephants playing happily (det. chasing the cat, energetic) [dev. cheeky / growing up healthily] • build trust gradually (det. singing, storytelling) [dev. patience required / elephants need to adjust in their own time / (will) form strong bonds] • personal safety (det. touch with trunk, could pull you through a fence) [dev. worth the risk / rewarding / importance of touch as a means of communication] • do not underestimate intelligence / cunning (det. took less than a day to escape, instinctively know how to hide) [dev. expect the unexpected / do your research before they arrive / (raise / need) funds for eventualities]

Marking Criteria for Question 4

Table F, Reading

Use the following table to give a mark out of 10 for Reading. This question tests assessment objectives R1, R2, R3 and R5.

Level	Marks	Description
5	9–10	• The response reveals a thorough evaluation and analysis of the text. • A wide range of ideas is applied. • Developed ideas are sustained and well related to the text. • There is supporting detail throughout, which is well integrated into the response, contributing to a strong sense of purpose and approach. • All three bullets are well covered. • A consistent and convincing voice is used.
4	7–8	• The response demonstrates a competent reading of the text with some evidence of basic evaluation or analysis. • A good range of ideas is evident. • Some ideas are developed but the ability to sustain them may not be consistent. • There is frequent, helpful supporting detail, contributing to a clear sense of purpose. • All three bullets are covered. • An appropriate voice is used.
3	5–6	• The response shows that the text has been read reasonably well. • A range of straightforward ideas is offered. • Opportunities for development are rarely taken. • Supporting detail is present but there may be some mechanical use of the text. • There is uneven focus on the bullets. • The voice is plain.
2	3–4	• There is some evidence of general understanding of the main ideas, but the response lacks focus on the text or the task. • Some brief, straightforward reference to the text is made. • There may be some reliance on lifting from the text. • Limited focus on the bullets. • The voice might be inappropriate.
1	1–2	• There is very limited evidence of engagement with the text. • Content is either insubstantial or unselective. • There is little realisation of the need to modify material from the text.
0	0	No creditable content.
